Please to register your letters containing re-nittances, as we hold ourselves responsible for all losses to us when letters are registered. We are not responsible for losses in the mails, should they ccur, unless letters are registered.

We used to be thought a progressive people, and we had some rational title to the character. We certainly did well in the practice of free government, and we had prospered in wealth, population and power. It is only lately, however, that we have started out in the line of progress with railroad speed. We used to be bound by a line of cli customs and precedents and practices that admitted only of progress in a particular way, and at a moderate paca. A few pioneers of progress saw that, with these cumbersome restraints upon us, we should not be able to do the exploits which our natural impulses and our tender onsciences demanded. War came to their relief, and by necessity, loyalty, logic, and sentiment, we have got out of all retraints, and now our progress is sublime. We fly like light and lightning. We can't tell to-day what may happen to-morrow; for, we mave so fast, it is impossible to tell in what condition we shall find ourselves. If there be any doubt or hesitation as to where we are goirg, we have only to call it progress, and all d ubts vanish, or remain in the minds of old fogies who mumble over old formu'as.

We are destroying property and means; yet it's progress. We are piling up a mountainous deb: to employ men to destroy, not to produce; but it's progress. Murders, rcb. eries, thefts, swindlings, and the whole cata logue of crimes, of all shades of depravities, abound in appailing dimensions everywhere; and all dectrines of government once though va'uable are los'; but it's progress, and that's ufficient answer to all objections.

Old things are to pass away, and all things are to become new. Notwithstanding this fair with them. rapid speed in the line of progress, it is too slow for us. If we must start, we can't afford o go by the name progress. It is too slow a word. It implies gradation. Cannon balls may, perhaps, be said to progress, but streaks of lightning and rays of light, which are here and at the other ends of the earth at the same time, can't submit to such slow words as progrees.

There are many wrongs in the world that ought to be rectified, and they ought to be all rubbed out at once. We should begin with the worst. This thing of property. It has een the curse of the world since Adam was a ooy. Why one man should slave for bread nd another have a million more than he evil away, and it will drag all other evils along been no property. It makes all the pestilent distinctions in society. It is the root of all evil. Let it, then, be provided, by an amendment to the Coustitution, that hereafter no property shall exist in the United States, and let it be submitted to all the States.

We can easily show in Kentucky that property in the State has become effete and burensome. A man is uneasy about the meat in the smokehouse, the horse in his stable. and the greenbacks in his pocket. Let us then, abolish this great obstacle to progress. If it were cut of the way, the rebeliion would die itself. There would be no more thefts and swindlings, and little use for government, except to destroy any property that might grow

We don't know but the present progressive may reach this point soon. They get faster every day. The suggestion, perhaps, mry be sufficient. When they do get to that extent of progress, they will not be in danger of rival. They ought to make haste.

Affairs in Prussia are assuming an ap earance of some interest. A division has arisen between the government and the Chamber of Deputies which will either lead to coup d'état or fully establish the rights of the people in that country.

The matter in dispute relates to the organization and control of the army-the King claiming that the safety of the country demands that it shall be kept up, while the Chamber maintain that the army, controlled by the King, will be more dangerous to the liberties of the people than to external enemies. By the war with Denmark the crown expected to divide public cpinion from the questions of internal policy, and thus gain additional favor for the maintenance and renown of the Prussian army. In this view they eem to bave been most signally defeated. The deputies seem as keenly alive to the domestic interests of the country as they were before the war, and it is a lesson to us in the midst of our tre-mendous war. Some of the statements made by the bold and able President of the Chamber seem calculated for other countries than Prussia. The Chamber of Deputies re-elected their previous chief officers by an increased mejority over that of last year. Its President and Vice President, both strongly disliked by the government, have been chosen again almost unanimously.

The Chambers were opened in January last by a speech from the throne, unexpectedly onciliatory in tone, considering the insolence of the Premier, Mr. Bismark. Still the speech maintains the threatening attitude assumed to the representatives of the people. While expressing a hope that "the differences which have arisen within the last few weeks between the Government and the Chamber of Deputies will be adjusted," the King again distinctly announces that "a good understanding with the Chamber can only be effected by the maintenance of the organization of the army, which guarantees its military officiency, and, consequently, the security of the country." It therefore yields nothing, but is resolved to maintain a power evidently dangerous to the interests and liberties of the people.

Upon the election of the President, Mr. Grabow, he returned thanks in a pertinent and Lyle's command, about six hundred men, are telling reply to the speech from the throne reported on the Arkansas side of the river. which was loudly and frequently applauded. Gentlemen, at our last dismissal the hope of an understanding with this House was temporarily abandoned. Since that period prosecutions of the Liberal press, reprimands of Liberal efficials, non-confirmations of Liberal communal elections, defamations, suspicions and calumnies of Liberal citizens, have taken place to an even greater extent than in former years. [Brevo.] Liberal opinions are outlawed. ["Very true."] Fidelity to conviction, the greatest element to old Prussian cflicials, has been placed under the Neo-Prussian ban. [Loud cheers, and "Very good."] The sx has been laid to the tree of the self-administration of towns and communes bearing. istration of towns and communes bearing since 1808, the glorious fruits of community of opinion and welfare, in order to turn back that thrica-tried public opinion which is the s rongest power in the Sate, to compel the Chamber of Deputies to subjection, and there-by to lay violent hands upon the arteries of by to lay violent hands upon the arterics of the Constitution. [Bravo.] The royal motto "Me only stands upon the rock of honor and liberty who places himself upon the rock of law," we have also adopted as our own. ["Very good."] Under this banner we can only find the understanding we have urgently desired for years, but hitherto strived for in vain, a course which enables us not to surrender the sworn rights of the people intrusted to our conscientions keeping. [Bravo.]

Some of the liberal party, after an example familiar to some States in this country, are Resolutions Spurning Mr. Lincoln resolved to hasten the close of the session by refusing to vote for the budget and any extraordinary credits. If this is their only means of securing their point and redressing their grievances, no one can blame them for adopting it. The majority, however, want to offer to the Government an opportunity to show what is meant by a reconciliation. In this they are joined by the Catholic party. The latter have given notice of an address, declaring that no reconciliation between the Government and the Chamber is possible, "except by the Government's formally acknowledging the Constitutional right of the Chambers to vote the budget, and by coming forward with proposals to diminish the mili tary expenses of the country as much as possible." This comes as an excellent rebuke to those who seem to believe that the professors of a particular religion are not able or willing to sustain liberal views of Government. and the rights and liberties of the people.

The candidates of the Government for the Presidency and Vice Presidencies did not rally more than thirty votes, so that the prespect, so far as moral and legal force is concerned, is

Letter from Judge Nicholas to a Member of the Kentucky Legislature, on the Slavery Question.

Dear Sir: There can be no doubt of it. I see no room for intelligent doubt that the constitutional smendment must entirely annul all such legislation as the pending bill to nul all such legislation as the pending bill to apprentice slaves. Every lawyer knows that such must be its effect, giving light of action to the freed negroes for the full value of their hire, from the time they are so illegally held under such apprenticeship. In this aspect, the bill is a ludicrous specimen of that on division, in the foot, slightly, still on apprenticeship. In the slow of the bill is a ludicrous specimen of that on the foot slightly still on apprentice slaves. Every lawyer knows that the Tribune's special from headquarters on the 7th says: Among the wounded in the fight between the Fifth corps and the enemy of the Boydton plank road last night were Gen. Ayres, c. mmanding the Second division, Fith corps, in the shoulder, severely; Gen. Gwynn, commanding the Third brigade, Second and the second severely. reeds, who can say? Just sweep this whole held under such apprenticeship. In this asgentlemen are arrogating to themselves the exclusive monopoly-a scheme to avoid the mischief of the amendment, which will be nullified the instant the amendment takes ef-The futile scheme of Gov. Bramlette to ob-

I cannot, in ordinary charity toward him, bring myself to suppose that he really believes it has any practicability what. ever. I have too much respect for his "prac tical statesmanship" to believe that he entertains even a hope that Abolitionists will ac-cord bare justice, much less what they would esteem great generosity, towards Kevtucky. He knows, as every lawyer knows, that the egislature has no power to make a condi-ional ratification. All it can do is to say yes or no. Such a ratification would only enable the Legislature has no power by make a conditional ratification. All it can do is to say yes or no. Such a ratification would only enable the Abolition Congress to consider the condition as mere a urplusage and treat the ratification as unconditional, which they would certainly do. Men who have the efficultery to attempt by fraud to engineer a seeming ratification of such an amendment, when it is notorious that vast majorities of the people of more than a fourth of the States are unalterably opposed to it, will have the effrentery to do this also, or even worse, if necessary to their purpose. They know that the courts would treat the apprenticing as a mere nullity, from being an obvious fraud upon the higher law, in disparagement of the rights which slaves were about to acquire under the amendment. But they will not trust to mere judicial decision. By the second clause of the amendment they have secured to themselves full power to nullify any legislation which goes to restrict the lify any legislation which goes to restrict the emancipated slave to the munificent remuner-ation of "a new suit of clothes and twenty-five dollars," in full for seven years' labor.

ation of "a new suit of clothes and twentyfive dollars," in full for seven years' labor.

I have always believed that the clause giving Congress the seemingly unnecessary power to enforce an amendment which adequately enforces itself, was introduced for the express purpose of affording Congress the apology of assuming exclusive jurisdiction over our negro population, the exercise of which, as prefigured in the "Freedments Department," created at the last session, would give the federal Government more local patronage than the governments of the slave States now enjoy. In the exercise of this power they will tolerate no apprenticeship other than the natural one of the child to its negro parent, and will make it felony to hold an emancipated negro under such apprenticeship.

All honor to glorious, unterrified Delaware.

acting with proper spirit, but in accordance with the highest order of true "practical statesmanship." If Kentucky follows her ex ample, the assent of the requisite threr-fourths of the States cannot be obtained, and the nation will not be improvidently sfit ted with that great obstacle to reconstruction and permanent pacification.

It is inconceivable to me how any Kentuckian could fancy any possible benefit to our State, which could induce the giving of her vote toward the robbery of her own citizens and the infliction upon her of that dire doom of two hundred and fifty thousand lazz aroul negroes, who would effectually repel the it flux of all, white labor or capital, and would certainly drive off much of that which we now have. The exercise of the principle labor of the State by lezzaroni free negroes would be much more degrading to labor and much more repulsive to white laborers than a humane, well-ordered slave labor system.

Tresent—T. C. Tucker, President, and all he members except Messrs. Armstrorg, 3nckner, Low, Morris and S'oll

The reading of the journal of the previous easion was dispensed with.

The following message was read from his floor the Mayor, viz:

MAYOR'S OFFICE, LOUISVILLE, KY., Feb. 9th, 1835 }

Conference Included I send you the acta

LOUISVILLE, KY., Feb. 9:b, 1865)

Contiemen: Inclosed I send you the acts of the Legislature authorizing the city to issue bonds to the amount of $200,000, for the purpose of raising a fund to encourage volunteering. The amount is not sufficient to relieve the city of the draft, by paying a bounty of $300 to each. The City's proportion heirg 1,207 men, it will require the sum of $377,100.

To raise the residue of the amount, I wou'd therefore propose, in accordance with a resolution passed at a public meeting held recently at the Courthouse, that a book be opened in the Mayor's cilice to receive subscriptions from any citizens who wish to aid in this matter; and in order that any one subject to the ter; and in order that any one subject to the draft may receive the benefit of this fund, such person be required to pay at least tweenty dollars, and register his name, so that if we fail in raising enough by volunteering, any man that is drafted, who has enrolled his ne and paid the above amount, shall receive from this fund $300, to dispose of as he may think proper, either to aid in buying a substi-tute or leave with his family.

Respectfully, WM KAYE, Mayor. When, on motion, an ordinance authorizing the issue of city bonds to raise a bounty fund in the city of Louisville, and to provide for their payment, was read once, rule suspended and passed by the following vote:

Yesz-Messers. Thomas, Campion, Craig, Dezier, Hartwell. Miller, Orrill, Peter, Rehm, J. C. Robinson, W. H. Robinson, Smith, Spaldg, Tompkins and Tomppert—15.

Nays—Mesers Tucker and Knight. These entlemen voted against the ordinance on account of the city's connection with the county of Jeffersor.

An ordinarce concerning the issue and payment of city bonds to create a bounty fund in he city of Louisville was read once, rule suspended and passed by the following vote:

3 P. M.—More intrenching tools and rations are coming up, and it is the determination to hold the five miles gained on the left of our old fortified lines at all hazurds. This gain, as I have said, brings us the Boydton plank road, and within artillery range of the South Side railroad. Thus Lee has again been outgeneraled, and another Yankee trick played upon the main army of the Conf-deracy.

Wednesday morning, 8th, 8 o'clock—A bright sunny morning dawns upon army operations, cheering the hearts of the brave soldiers who have just endured and accomplished so much. The new gain of five miles on our left is being strongly fortified this morning, and will be redded all hearth? This is a mearificent.

The report of the Wharfmaster, to January 28, 1865, was read and filed. The cavalry are still reconnoitering to the west and southwest.

It has been developed by this movement that Lee had sent several divisions of his troops against Sherman, thus materially weakening his lines here.

Our army line on the railroad is to be immediately pushed out to the Boydton plank toad, and will no doubt soon be connected with the Scuth Side railroad.

In accordance with an ordinance passed by the General Council, there will be opened at the Mayor's chie this morning a subscription book, when persons can come forward, and by paying in a subscristion, relieve themselves of the draft. The ordinance provides that any person who shall subscribe the amount of $25 shall, if drafted, receive the sum of $300 to assist him to procure a substitute, or if he is compelled to go into the army, then the sum of $300 will be given to his family for their support. This is an excellent move, and there will no doubt be a large number of subscribers. Let every one come forward at once, and the chances are that the city can be relieved of the draft. The small sum of $25 from each person subject to the draft will fill our quota. Who will stand back?

LA RUE'S GREAT WAR SHOW .-- Mr. La Rue and his entertainments have always been very popular in Louisville, and the largest halls have never been large enough to contain the immense crowds which his entertainments call out. His present entainment, illustrative of the great rebellion, combined with his humorous performances, is procounced superior to all his former efforts. The Buffalo Commercial, in referring to the great show, says: La Rue had another tremedous audience lest night, and never have we seen an entertairment give so much satisfaction. Apart from the wonderful interest of the war scenes, his own oilo of oddities is of i self an entertainment worth double the price of admission. To see him and hear him as the phresion. siment worth double the price of acmission. The main question is: Does the set of 1864 under which the defendants claim the right to make a road, violate any provisions of the plaintiffs' charter, or the one under which they ac', and under which they made their road, years before the act of 1800? The several acts up to 1800, which acts may be called their charter, seem to have established no exclusive right to make all the railroads the public good.

up to 1000, which acts may be salted their charter, seem to have established no exclusive right to make all the railroads the public good might require on the north side of Main street, between that part of the city called in common parlance Louisville, and that part called Portlard, how being Louisville. The act of 1860 says: "No railroad except that of the Louis ville and Portland Bailroad Compary shall be constructed north of Main street and west of Twelfth street in the city of Louisville."

There is no consideration, cause, or reason mentioned for this restriction. There is no obligation on the plaintiffs' to make a new road under any circumstances, at the request of the city authorities or not; and there are no details of any sort as to the character of any new road, its width, its rails, double or single track, rate of tolls, what sort of care, or acy hirg else; nor how long the monopoly shou'd continue—for years, or forever. Surely it could not be granted to continue cover. should continue—for years, or forever. Surely it could not be granted to continue forever and be a mere exclusion of the power of the Legislature to give the right to make a road to any other person or corporation.

The plain reading, in fact, is, that it was intended to restrict the city authorities and all used to restrict the city authorities and all future Legislatures from having any other road made north of Main street and west of Twelth. The plaintiffs' road is nearly all north of Main street and all west of Twelth, and this gives to show that it was a mere restriction, and that they were not expected to mak; a new road.

that they were not expected to mak: a new road.

But if another road for the accommodation of the public was contemplated by the General Assembly to be made by them, were they to take their own time, while the people of the city and the strat graphic suffered very much because another and better road was not mad? Not the least movement has been taken to make the newsary road although taken to make the necessary road, although the act was pessed 20.h January, 1860. This would have been ground enough to justify a repeal of the act. It might have been deemed inscrepted, notwiths anding any formal reso unsceepted, notwiths anding any formal resolution of the company.

Why should a future General Assembly be restricted and withheld from the necessary action for the growth of the city, as well as the convenience and the necessity, indeed, of the great public trade and travel up and down the river and across the niver?

This act of 1800 was no part of the plaintiff, charter, as far as the doctrine of contract is concerned. Suppose one Legislature should pass an act saying that there should be no more wharves within a mile of those existing now, or should declare that there should be no more roads in Jefferson county, these things could not bind the sovereignty in the hands of those thereafter intrusted with the public good. This act of 1800 is to be regarded in the same light.

Now, the Judicial Department of the Government would not be able to say such acts were unconstitutional and void; but when a subsequent Legislature should repeal them, or make provision for the public, not regarding the restriction pretended to be made the or make provision for the public, not regard ing the restriction pretended to be made, the courts could readily decide the latter acts to be in pursuance of the proper legislative func I am sorry that the doctrine of the legisla I am sorry that the doctrine of the legislative power, well established now in the United States, to provide for the public convenience and necessity, must operate injuriously on some who have had charters for roads, bridges, ferries, din, but if the case as it happens, is not under the obligation and sunctity of a courect on the part of the Government, the courts have no power to interfere. [See White River Turnpike Company vs. Vermont Ceptral Rillroad Company, 21; Vemont Reports, 500; and American Rillroad Cases, 237, and cases cited.

The motion for an injunction is overruled

[A copy attest.] H. STUCKEY, Clerk. As the case now stands the City Railway Company will commence the building of their road along the avenue, and in the course of some two months we will have two roads run ning to Portland. We learn from the counsel for the plain iffs that the case will be taken before the Court of Appeals.

With the greatest resp.cf.

With the greatest respect,

JEFF. DAVIS. Your servant,

The sub-itantial object to be attained by the infomal conference is to ascertain upon what terms the existing war can be terminated honorably. Our instructions contemplate a personal interview between Present Liucoln and ourselves at Washington, but with this explanation we are ready to meet any person or persons that President Litroln may appoint, at such place as he may designate. Our earness desire is that a just and honorable peace may be agreed upon, and we are prepared to receive or submit propositions which may possibly lead to the attainment of that end.

Very respectful y,

Please state that the above communication was delivered to me at Fort Monroe at 4:30 in the evening, February 21, by Lieut. Col. Bab cock, of General Grant's staff.

T. T. ECKERT, Major Comd'g.

On the morning of the 31 the three centlemen, Stephens, Hunter and Campbell came aboard of our steamer ard had an interview with the Secretary of the State and myself of several hours' duration. No question of preliminaries to the meeting was there to be made or mentioned; no other person was Dresen; no pages were exchanged of Dropresent; no papers were exchanged or produced, and it was in advance agreed that the conversation was to be informal and verb conversation was to be informal and verbal merely on our part. The whole substance of instructions to the Secretury of State herein before mentioned was stated and insisted upon, and nothing was said inconsistent therewith, while by the other party it was said that in any event or on any condition they ever would consent to requipe, and yet they equally emitted to declare that they would equally emitted to declare that they would ot so consent. They seemed to desire a postponement of

They seemed to desire a postponement of that question and the adoption of some other course first, which as some of them seemed to argue might or might not lead to reunion, but which course we thought would amount to an indefinite postponement. The foregoing, containing as is believed, all the information sought, is respectfully submitted.

DEPARTMENT OF STATE, WASHINGTON, Feb. 1 Sir: It is a truism that in times of peace Sir: It is a truism that in times of peace there are always instigators of war, and as soon as a war begins there are citiz nos who emphatically demand negotiations of peace. The advocates of war, after an agitation, longer or shorter, generally gain their fearful ends, though the war declared is not unfrequently unnecessary and unwise. So peace negotiations, in time of war, ultimately bring chout an abandoment of the conflict, sometimes without securing advantages which were originally expected from the conflict. The agitators for war in time of peace and tor peace in time of war are not necessary or.

The agitators for war in time of peces and not peace in time of war are not necessary or, perhaps, ordinarily unpolitic in their purpose or motives. Results alone determine whether they are wise or unwise.

The treaty of peace concluded at Gaundoupe Hidalgo was secured by an irregular negotiation under the Don of the Government. Some of the efforts which have been made to bring f the efforts which have been made to bring bout negotiations with a view to end our ivil war are known to the whole world, becivil war are keewn to the whole world, because they have employed foreign as well as domestic agents. Others with whom you have had to deal confidentially are known to yourself, although they have not publicly transpired. O her efforts have occurred here which are known only to the persons actually moving in them and to this Government. I am now to give for your information an account of an affair of some general character which recently received much attention here, and which doubtless will excite inquiry abroad.

A few days ago F. B. Blair, E.q., obtained from the President a simple leave to pass through our liner; without definite views through our lines; without definite views known to the government Mr. Blair visited R chmond, and on his return showed to the President o letter which Jeff Davis hat writ-eo to Mr. Blair, in which Davis wrote. Mr. Blair was at liberty to say to President lincoln that Dav's was now as he always had been, willing to send Commissions, if assured bey would be received or to receive any that should be sent. That he was not disposed to end commissioners to confer with the Presi send commissioners to confer with the Freed-dect, with a view to the restoration of peace between the two county'es, if he could be as-sured they would be received. The President therefore on the 18th of January addressed a note to Mr. Blir, in which he, after acknowl-edging he had received the note of Mr. Davis, aid he was and always should be willing to eccive any agents Mr. Davis or any other inluential man now actually resisting the au-hority of the government, might send to confer with the President informally, with a iew to the restoration of peace to the people

f our common country.

Mr. Blair visited Richmond with this letter, and then sgain come back to Washington, on the 20th ult. We were advised from the comp of General Grant that A. H. Stephens, R. M. of General Grant that A. H. Stephene, R. M. T. Hunter and J. A. Campbell were applying for leave to pass through our lines to Washington as peace commissioners, to confer with the President. They were permitted by the Lieutenant General to come to his headquarters to await the decision of the President. Mejor Execrt was sent down to meet the party from Richmond at General Grant's quarters. The Mejor was instructed to deliver to them acopy of the President's letter to Blair, with a note to be addressed to them and signed by the Mejor, in which they were directly informed they should be allowed to pass our lines. ed they should be allowed to pass our lines They would be understood as coming for an informed conference upon the basis of the foregoing letter to Mr. Blair. If the should

On receiving this information the President prepared a tel-gram direction the Secretary to yeturn to Washington. The Secretary was preparing at the same moment to so return a without waiting for information from the President, but at this juncture Lieui. Gen. Is Grant tel-graphed to the Secretary of State that the Richmond genitemen had reconsidered and accepted the condition tendered them through M-jor Eckert, and Gen Grant urgently advised the President to confer in person with the Richmond party. Under those circumstances the Secretary, by the President's direction, remained at Fortress Mooroe and the President joined him there on the night of the 2d. The Richmond party was brought down James river on a U. S. steam transport during the day and the transport dwas anchorad in Hampton Roads.

On the morning of the 3d, the President, attended by Secretary Seward, received the Messrs. Stephens, Hanter and Campbell, on board the steam transport River Queen, in Champton Roads.

There was no attendance of secretaries or clerks, or other witnesses. Nothing was written or red. The conference was informal. There was no attendance of secretaries or clerks, or other witnesses. Nothing was written or red. The conversation was earnest—the conference was calm and courteous and kind on both sidee.

The Richmond genilemen approached the discussion rather indirectly, and at no time did they make any categorical demands or tender any formal stipulations or absolute refusals. Neverthless, during the conversation which lasted four hours, the several points at issue between the Government and the insurgents party seemed chiefly to favor was the postponement of the question of separation upon which the war is waged, and the mutual direction of the efforts of the direction of the direction of the efforts of the direction of the separation upon which the war is waged, and

The result of yesterday's fight was more important than reported. The particulars were not fully knows at that time. When the Fitth corps fell back to the line of works at Hatcher's Run, Monday night, the nemy did not follow very vigorously, nor di ney make any attempt to storm the position was believed, however, they would do so esterday morning, but up to noon no sign of attack appeared, nor did the rebels seem to be n strong force in the vicinity. It was there ore determined to send a reconnoissance out in the ground occapied by us the day before, ascertain where the rebels were, and, i ible, to force them back to their works a eral Crawford's division of the Sixth

The column moved about noon, taking Dabaey Mill road, and after advancing about half a mile, struck the rebel pickets, who fell back as our men advanced. A line of battle was then formed, the right resing on Hutchet's Run, and the left was supported by part of General Wheaton's commist, of the eixth corp. The entire line then advanced cantionally through tha thick woods. advanced cautiously through the thick woods on each side of the road, and before going far net the rebels in force, when a sharp fight i mediately began. The rebels were steadily driven back on both sides till they took ref-uge behind their works, at the mill, where they made a determined stand. The fighting here was kept up until dark, when our men commenced throwing up light breastworks to protect them. The rebels didn't seem disposed to attack again, as they had done the day before. The object of the movement having been accomplished, our troops were withdrawn during the night to their former position on the Vaughn road, in the vicitity of which strong works have been erected. The loss in the movement turns out to be quite heavy, considering the force engaged. The Third division, Fifth corps, suffered principally. ney made a determined stand. The fighting

The Senate, by an almost unaulmous vote, rejected the bill putting two hundred thousand negroes in the army.

The Enquirer says Messra. Bevill & Allen, of the Richamond ambulance committee, will leave the city this morning in charge of a large amount of supplies brought by the last itag of truce boat for the Federal paisoners conflaed at Danville, Virginie, and at Salisbury, North Carolina. Three Federal officers at each place have been selected and parcied to attend to the distribution of the supplies.

The Whig says the Canton Mississippi Citizen has heard it intimated by goultemen of intelligence that it is probable no farther efforts will be made to hold the country between the Yazoo and the Big Black, or to protect the Mississippi Central Railroad, but that our lines will be moved back as far as Brandon, perhaps further east. The only hope of beltg able to hold the Mobile and Ohio Railroad.

OFFICE OF THE LOUISVILLE DEMOCRAT, FRIDAY EVENING, February 10th, 1885.
We have no change to note in our general produce arket to day. The demand for flour is confined to the nmediate wants of retail greeers and city bakers, so at the sales are confined to a few small lots at $9.75 r superfine $9 to $9 50 for plain extra, $10 to $10 25 for tra family and $10 50 to $11 20 for fancy brands, ac-ording to the reputation of the brand. Wheat remains achanged, with but a moderate inquiry, but as the repts are small, prices are unchanged. We quote at ceipts are small, prices are unchanged. We quote at $1.96 to $1.95 for prime red and $2 to $2.05 for white. Small lots of choice could probably be sold at an advance on these quotations. Corn is in moderate request, but as the arrivals are light, prices remain firm. In lots from wagons dealers are purchasing at $1.10 to $1.12 for ear and $1.15 to $1.17 for shelled. In smaller lots from store an advance of 150 per bushel is asked on these quotations. Oats remain firm at $50.
